COUNCIL HAS LENGTHY SESSION

The regular meeting of the Town Council held last Friday night was a very lengthy one, with Mayor Purcell in the chair and Commissioners Miliken, Moss, MacCallum, Thompson and Menard present. After the adoption of the minutes of meetings held March 1st, 10th and 20th and April 2nd, the first business dealt with concerned the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Desjardine in the Alberta Central Sanatorium. While the account had been passed in charges had been issued and the secretary had written the department regarding legal information, and the matter was left over until a reply was received. The secretary advised that the Man- no girl had been admitted to the Alber- ta Central Sanatorium and an ac- count for $8 for March maintenance. One member of the council said that he had heard that the girl had been trying to get into the Sanatorium for several years. Regarding the main highway it was decided to have until the govern- ment engineers arrived. The School Tax Trust Account will be dealt with at the next meeting. A letter from the department, a Edmonton had been received and the council was still of the opinion that the Calgary bakeries were not breaking the by-law. The minutes recorded that it is to be found the Bakery Co. is acting contrary to the by-law the council will help him all it can. A letter from the State Engineer per- taining to the need of old buildings being the safe up against the pres- ent building and to take down the lean-to, etc. The front and sides of the building were covered with rock-faced brick, siding galvanized and painted and the roof was covered with metal shingles. The Star would also install at their work on corrugated iron culvert in the drain at the rear of the Star Cafe. This was thought a good oppor- tunity to get the corrugated iron below the road and would also be the whole drain in the garage was properly attended to by putting in the pipe and covering the drain. The Public Works Committee believe the property owners would do this work and the town only have to pay for about forty feet. Alds Moss and MacCallum moved that a special per- mit be given the Star Cafe to have this work done to conform to regula- tions and if a rooming house to be known it would have to meet all re- quirements of the town. Mr. Murray stated he had been un- able to find sanction as a notary public and it was recommended he apply for an appointment as a notary commissioner of the court. A letter from W. Jeffers asked per- mission to connect up with the owner and to do the work at his own expense and be reimbursed by credit on the frontage tax and other parties. The meeting up to pay him proportionate. Considerable discussion en- sued, after which a motion by Alds Miliken and MacCallum: That permission be granted by W. Jeffers to connect with the town sewer from his house on Lots 9 and 10 Block 4, starting at the corner of the main street at the intersection of 4th Avenue and Gleichen St., thence east to the centre of the main street, thence south, six-inch sewer pipe to be used and work and material to meet with the same specifications as the work. This work to be done at his own expense and that he be re-imbursed by credit on the frontage tax and second by any frontage tax on other connections and the charge for the privilege and Gleichen- tions, which charge shall be decided by the council. The sewer when it is found to belong to the town. Ald Menard brought up the matter of people using town lots without pay- ing anything and the council was to get the weeds, etc. Resulting in a motion passed that private prop- erty leaving town without first paying tax is against town laws. On motion of Ald Menard, a motion was made that the town council be authorized to issue a notice to the owner of the property to pay the tax. It was decided to accept a ten-year lease with the understanding, as it might it could be renewed for ten years. It was thought it would be better to have the work done next year so that if the scheme was voted on and passed that the first defec- tive payment would fall due in 1932, when the other town debt would be paid off. Mr. George Desjardine had com- plained that certain charges in con- nection with the town council should be paid by the town. It was pointed out she had signed an agree- ment to accept all responsibility in the matter and the council did not think she had any reason to complain and a motion was passed that the Town Council assume no responsibility for the matter. C. Menard brought up the question of Mr. Geo. Desjardine being al- lowed to connect the town sewer to his property to her house. She was galvanized and painted and the roof was covered with metal shingles. The Star would also install at their work on corrugated iron culvert in the drain at the rear of the Star Cafe. VIRGINIA BRADFORD HEROINE IN THRILL FILM "MARKED MONEY"

Pathe Frayer Former Writer For Press, Achieves Screen Success

If Virginia Bradford, popular screen player, had not made up her mind to identify herself with the movies, she would now be a feature writer for the newspapers. As it is, what the writing game was when she appeared as a player in the pictures, "Atta Boy" and "Stage Madness" several years ago, the screen field has gained, so there you are. And it must be admitted that Miss Bradford is a decided acquiescent to the screen. All fans who who her in "The Country Doctor," will be delighted with her latest role in the Pathe production, "Marked Money" which will be on view at the Gleichen Community Hall on Saturday night. She is seen as the daughter of an old and captain who despises landmen in general and aviators in particular. So she proceeds to fall in love with a naval aviator in the story, who teaches her how to handle an airplane, and this gets both of them in serious trouble with the protesting sailor father. But all ends happily and there are numerous thrills before the climax is reached.

Junior Coghlan, a pre- cession truck-faced boy who became famous by his work in "The Yankee Clipper," George Duray, who played op- eraticas in the "The Good- leas Girl," and Tom Kennedy, fore- most amongst screen comedians, are featured with Miss Bradford in this delightful production. Spencer Ben- net directed the picture under the supervision of Hector Turnbull. Miss Bradford went to Hollywood to write syndicate articles for the newspapers, but the silent show- ing. She has beauty, charm and tal- ent of high order and her popu- larity will be vastly enhanced by her excellent work in "Marked Money."

JOE MARKS RETURNS WITH HIS COMEDIANS

Joe Marks, brother of Tom Marks and manager of Bert Johnston's Comedy and Vaudeville Company, has made arrangements with Mr. Beach, man- ager of the Gleichen Community Hall for the appearance of this company in the Community Hall at Gleichen, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, April 24-25-26. Mr. Beach has cancell- ed his picture for this splendid ad- vantage. Bert Johnston needs no introduction to theatre goers, he is known from coast to coast and never fails to please his audience. Many new tricks and illusions are being pre- sented by the magician this season in his present Trans-Canada tour. When Mr. Johnston left the east he had not one of his old tricks but requests were so numerous for some of his old favorites that he found it desirable to bring them out. Madam Callon Canada's only lady magician, is a main included in the company as well as Salambo, Johnston's clever as- sistant. The remainder of the company are making their first tou- rnay with Mr. Johnston. Evelynne, the girl of a Million Song introduces an act that delight and mystifies patrons in every town and city in which she has appeared. The act is new and makes its first ap- pearance in Canada.

Let's will be over and immediately after the big show on Friday night a dance will be given with the com- pany's own orchestra. In attendance special hard time prices for this oc- casion. See ad.

Mr. George Desjardine had com- plained that certain charges in con- nection with the town council should be paid by the town. It was pointed out she had signed an agree- ment to accept all responsibility in the matter and the council did not think she had any reason to complain and a motion was passed that the Town Council assume no responsibility for the matter.

C. Menard brought up the ques- tion of Mr. Geo. Desjardine being al- lowed to connect the town sewer to his property to her house. She was galvanized and painted and the roof was covered with metal shingles. The Star would also install at their work on corrugated iron culvert in the drain at the rear of the Star Cafe. This was thought a good oppor- tunity to get the corrugated iron below the road and would also be the whole drain in the garage was properly attended to by putting in the pipe and covering the drain. The Public Works Committee believe the property owners would do this work and the town only have to pay for about forty feet. Alds Moss and MacCallum moved that a special per- mit be given the Star Cafe to have this work done to conform to regula- tions and if a rooming house to be known it would have to meet all re- quirements of the town. The Stumbling Block

Whatever may be the outcome of the naval conference in session in London, and at the time of writing it is still problematical and obscure, the fact that leading statesmen of the world, engrossed, as they are, with many domestic and other problems, and carrying heavy responsibilities, have for months doggedly persevered in their efforts to find common ground upon which a reduction of armaments can be brought about, is, in itself, one of the most hopeful signs for world peace.

Not many years ago such a conference would have, long ere this, broken up in an open confession of failure, with national feelings more embittered than ever, and a still more feverish renewal of warlike preparations on the part of all nations. Even if the present conference does not succeed in reaching a formal and unanimous agreement, the persistency, the intensity with which those participating have sought for a solution is encouraging and full of hope for ultimate future success.

The proceedings of the conference as they have dragged along week after week, have proven the sincerity of the statements made by the various representatives at the opening session, namely, that they and the governments they represent are keenly desirous of reaching an agreement, that they are anxious to make future wars impossible, that they believe in the letter and spirit of the Kellogg peace pact, and to that end are willing to make what they consider sacrifices to achieve a reduction in armaments and a consequent lessening of the possibilities of war and of the burden of taxation imposed upon their people.

This sincerity of purpose has been demonstrated over and over again. When any particular formula or plan was found to be unacceptable in any particular to any one nation, the others sought for amendments that would meet the objections raised. When the objections urged were found to be insurmountable, that formula or plan was discarded, and something different brought forward. Step by step, in sub-conferences innumerable, by direct negotiations between those countries which were farthest apart in their views, difficulties were gradually overcome.

Just how much has been accomplished, the world does not yet know; perhaps little of a really definite nature. But the whole effect has been beneficial. It is beyond all question that the nations now understand and appreciate each other's viewpoints and difficulties better than ever before, because it is quite evident that the negotiations have been conducted with great frankness, and yet with an absence of that bitterness and ill-feeling which existed in past years. Whatever the present outcome, the way, we repeat, has been paved to ultimate success.

And what is the obstacle to immediate success, assuming that it cannot at this time be achieved? It is that the centuries-old racial dislikes, suspicions, superiority complexes, and religious differences still project themselves and live in this twentieth century of the Christian era. Each and every nation indignantly denies and rejects the idea that they entertain, desire or propose any policy or act of aggression against any other nation. But each and every nation is, nevertheless, demanding security against other nations. In a word, while professing their own honesty of purpose, they remain doubtful and suspicious of their neighbors.

Here in Canada we may find it somewhat difficult to understand this attitude, and be inclined to question the sincerity of those who adopt it. But if we pause for a moment and ponder over the problem a bit, we will, perhaps, come to appreciate the European viewpoint somewhat better. And in doing so we, too, may learn a lesson of importance to ourselves, our communities, and our Dominion.

After all, what is the chief cause of friction, ill-will, bitterness and suspicion right here in Canada, and in our own community? Does it not arise out of differences in racial origin, different languages employed, differing forms by and through which we worship the same God? Are we not suspicious and distrustful of our neighbors simply because their racial origin differs from our own, because their mother tongue is not ours, because their religious thought and church observances differ from ours? We feel that they should conform to our ideas and ways of thought, and because we feel this, we imagine that they, in turn, are trying to impose their ways upon us.

It is the same European nightmare in a somewhat milder form. We want and demand security. Instead of armies and navies, we place reliance in laws, regulations, prohibitions. France would bring all Europe to her way of thinking, Germany to her way. We, in Canada, seem to demand complete assimilation, absolute uniformity. It is the same principle. And it is a principle if persisted in, and carried to its logical conclusion, results in ill-feeling, bitterness and strife, and makes peace impossible of attainment.

A broader education, a truer appreciation of the fact that all men are brothers, that a man's a man for a' that, a nearer approach to the spirit of the Christ, is an essential of world disarmament and peace, just as it is an essential to community betterment and national peace and progress. Demands for security will only be unnecessary and die when we no longer entertain suspicions and fears of those against whom we would arm in one form or another.

Western Red Cedar Popular

Is Big Asset In B.C. From Lumbering Standpoint

From a lumbering point of view one of the greatest assets of British Columbia is the immense stands of Western red cedar in the province. These stands are estimated at 78 billion feet board measure, or slightly more than those of Douglas fir. Shingles and siding have been the principal products of Western red cedar. The smaller trees have been used extensively for telephone and telegraph poles. It is rapidly coming into favor for interior woodwork and is, in addition, being used in an increasing degree for pulp.

The king and queen of the Belgians have defied the reputed curse of the Pharaohs. Thereafter the king walked nearly two miles from his yacht into Karnak.

Noted Flier Performs Thrilling Exploit

Australian Ace Forces Machine To Rise In Forest Clearing

Captain Charles Kingsford D. Smith, the Australian ace who flew from the United States to Australia in 1928, has just performed one of the most thrilling exploits of his career.

He is now the director of an air line. Recently when one of the company's triple-engined machines made a forced landing in a forest clearing near Bonalbo, Northern New South Wales, it seemed that the 'plane could be moved only by being dismantled.

Smith went to the scene, repaired the damaged under-carriage, tied the 'plane's tail to a tree and set his engines going full speed. When the machine lifted from the ground a farmer cut the rope and the 'plane flashed away like a rocket.

Even then the straining 'plane, bucking like a broncho, could barely rise above the towering forest trees. A topmost bough tore the fabric from underneath the fuselage and the machine trembled like a wounded bird, but it kept up and Smith got it safely to the airfield.

Linking Canada and Britain

British Post Office To Provide Direct Wireless Phone Service

Canada and Britain are to be linked by direct wireless telephone. The House of Commons recently debated the respective merits of the Marconi and the British post office wireless systems. Hon. H. B. Lees-Smith, postmaster-general, revealed that the Canadian government had expressed a desire for direct service.

The direct service will be provided by the post office. Arguing the general merits of the post office system as contrasted with Marconi, the postmaster-general said the lower costs of its aerials enabled it to give three wave lengths to each Dominion. The Marconi system provided two to most of the Dominions and only one for Australia.

The Family Physician.—The good doctor is always worth his fee. But it is not always possible to get a doctor just when you want him. In such cases, common sense suggests the use of reliable home remedies, such as Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, which is wonderfully effective in easing inflammatory pains and healing cuts, scratches, bruises and sprains. The presence of this remedy in the family medicine chest saves many a fee.

Drummond Was a Telegrapher

Recalls When Well Beloved Habitant Poet Held Down Night Trick

Dr. Drummond going out into the parishes of ancient Quebec, attending the sick, listening to old stories and songs, with his eyes and ears always open and his sympathy tuned to catch the simple life of the habitant in its many phases, is a familiar figure in Canadian literature. Not so well known is the Drummond of the seventies, before he wrote "L'Étatsé," "The Wreck of the Julie Plante" and the other ditties that have become so well-beloved. In the seventies, Drummond was an undergraduate at McGill College, studying medicine and attending lectures all day and at night operating a telegraph key.

"Bill held down the same trick on the Associated Press wire as I did later on," says Thomas Rodger, special representative of the Canadian National Railways' telegraph and telephone department, who has just retired after 56 years' service with the system. "Bill was on the night trick necessarily, as he was attending McGill College during the day." Rodger recalls Drummond's forsaking the press wire on receiving his degree and going into practice and remembers the favor with which the public received the first book of poems, "The Habitant." "My memories of Bill Drummond will be vivid to the end," says the veteran, "especially as I have so often seen him haranguing with the French-Canadian linemen in the broken French-English patois he used in his writing."

Advertising Means Prosperity

Keeps Necessary Commodities Before Eyes Of Buying Public

When we speak of the prosperity of a country too much emphasis is placed upon big business—lumbering, railroads, steel, banking. They do not make prosperity. They merely reflect it. They prosper when the country prospers. And the country prospers by the daily round of small expenditures of millions of families, the grist of groceries, toilet articles, dry goods and clothing they buy. As long as that keeps up everything is normal. But let these households begin to pare their daily budgets, substitute a boiling-piece for the weekly roast, make over little Mary's frock instead of buying a new one, and business begins to fall off.

The daily purchases of these millions of people are conditioned by advertising. The breakfast foods, ketchups, tooth pastes and galoshes that they could not do without and which their grandfathers did without were introduced by advertising and are kept there by advertising—the advertising of manufacturers in the magazines, posters and window displays and direct mail matter. Cut this advertising sharply off and we would have a slump beside which the Stock Exchange debacle would be a mere incident.

Standing Up Under Loss

Takes More Than Market Crash To Down Canadians

During the recent market crash, paper losses, sustained by Canadian listed and unlisted stocks amounted to more than $5,000,000,000. This is more than double the gross funded debt of the Dominion, or $55 per capita.

And yet, with a loss of more than five billion dollars, the people of Canada can go about their business with little more than the embarrassment of feeling sheepish over being had.

The truth is that no stock crash can knock the props out from beneath a country that has trillions of dollars in natural resources, both mapped and uncharted.

The mines alone of this Dominion are worth more than the total resources of Germany, France and Italy. Our forests and fisheries have more latent wealth than the combined wealth of all the Balkan states.

Our annual exportable wheat crop is worth more than the goods that Spain has produced for export in the past fifty years.

That is why Canadians can take a little financial blow of $5,000,000,000 without feeling it. Some country!

Apart from the Indian States there are probably many more millionaires in British India than in America, and they are all, or nearly all, Indian. But these fortunes enormous as they are in the aggregate, are unquestionably a mere fraction of the still more marvellous wealth which exists in the shape of gold and silver hoards throughout the vast domain of India, whether British India, or the Indian States.

Eight Hour Day Legislation

Minister Of Labor Has Measure Bearing On Public Works Contracts

Eight-hour-day legislation for labor by contract or day labor on all public works of the Dominion of Canada is to be introduced into parliament by Hon. Peter Heenan, minister of labor.

This advanced step in the interests of Canadian labor will be incorporated in a bill, which will also deal with the question of fair wages.

At the present time, laborers on Dominion public works are paid the rate prevailing in the locality in which the work is being carried on. But, under the measure which will be brought down by Mr. Heenan, the minister of labor will have power to enforce fair and reasonable rates, if in his opinion the prevailing scale of wage in any particular locality is too low. For the past 30 years, fair wage provisions for labor employed by contract or day labor on Dominion public works has been effected by order-in-council. The bill will now give a status of parliamentary authority in respect to the payment of fair wages.

Last year there were 20 murders in the province, compared to 14 in 1928; 28 manslaughter charges, against 18; 83 suicides against 58, automobile fatalities totalled 248, while there were only 162 in 1928, and drownings increased from 144 to 191. Deaths from other causes numbered 188, compared to 243 in 1928.

The deepest regret is expressed in the death of Mrs. Earl Gray of Shalldie, age 38 years, who passed away from farm home, Friday night, April 11th, from pneumonia. Besides her husband she leaves four children, the eldest being about 16 years of age, her great loss, as well as many other relatives and friends. Despite the rain there was a very large attendance at the funeral services Monday afternoon, which was conducted at the home by Rev. J. H. Brubaker, assisted by Mr. Culp. The remains were interred in the Arrowwood cemetery and many beautiful floral offerings were received. Her children had been ailing for sometime and the most sincere sympathy is extended to them in their bereavement and the sorrowing household.

After a very severe dust storm Sunday during the night rain began to fall and continued nearly all day Monday, but toward night soon began to fall, continuing until afternoon Tuesday, giving the entire country a thorough soaking, which was very much needed and insured splendid conditions for seeding now. South of town in the Arrowwood, Shalldie, Questmore, and Minto districts many completed seeding last week, while around Gleichen only a few had started. However, as the sun is out very bright this morning and the streets are rapidly drying it may not be many days before seeding here is general.
